DETAILED ACTION

The rejection under section 112, second paragraph is withdrawn in favor of the following new ground of rejection under this section:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7, 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear what is reacted with the glycols or diols in the methy-p-toluate enriched stream. In this regard, the products of the reaction, and thus, the basis of the claimed composition, is unclear.

It is unclear if the claimed composition need be purified in order to attain the required viscosities, or if the crude reaction product has the required viscosities.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5, 26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. patent No. 4,112,240 to Hulsmann et al. (Hulsmann).

Hulsmann teaches the esterification of methyl benzoate with dipropylene glycol. The methyl benzoate is a product of a dimethylterephthalate production process by the oxidation of p-xylene or methyl-p-toluate, See columns 2-3.

The difference between the process covered by the rejected claims and the process disclosed by the references is that the reference fails to specifically teach esterification of methyl-p-toluate. However, those of ordinary skill would expect that methyl-p-toluate, as well as the other by-products recited in the rejected claims, would be present in the technical grade methyl benzoate starting reaction mixture, and thus esterified, by the process. Therefore esterification of methyl-p-toluate is well within the purview of the reference, and therefore, prima facie obvious.

Those physical properties set forth in the rejected claims are invariably possessed by the compositions of Hulsmann, see MPEP 2112.01 ("Where the claimed and prior art products are identical or substantially identical in structure or composition, or are produced by identical or substantially identical processes, a prima facie case of either anticipation or obviousness has been established. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1255, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). "When the PTO shows a sound basis for believing that the products of the applicant and the prior art are the same, the applicant has the burden of showing that they are not." In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 709, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990) . . . "[p]roducts of identical chemical composition can not have mutually exclusive properties." A chemical composition and its properties are inseparable. Therefore, if the prior art teaches the identical chemical structure, the properties applicant discloses and/or claims are necessarily present. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 709, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990)").

Claims 6, 7 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hulsmann in view of GB947764 (GB 764).

The rejected claims cover those embodiments wherein the claimed compositions further comprise tall oil fatty acids, which is not explicitly disclosed by Arendt. However, for this proposition, the examiner joins GB 764, which discloses that glycol benzoate plasticizer compositions commonly comprise fatty acids, such as soybean fatty acid derivatives, see CAS online citation 60:69197 [retrieved 2 September 2008] from STN; Columbus, OH, USA. Therefore, plasticizer compositions that comprise tall oil fatty acids are well within the purview of those of ordinary skill, and thus, prima facie obvious.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
